WAS STIRRING ADDRESS

HON. JAMES A. REED SPOKE AT THE SEDALIA THEATER FRIDAY NIGHT.

CONTRASTED POLICIES OF PARTIES

Most Eloquently Advocated the Election of Bryan and Cowherd to Large and Enthusiastic Audience.

Hon. James A. Reed, ex-mayor of Kansas City, spoke to a crowded house at the Sedalia theater Friday night and delivered an address which for logic, brilliancy and eloquence, has seldom, if ever, been equaled in Sedalia. Mr. Reed spoke for two and one-half hours and held the closest attention of his auditors during the entire time.

He reviewed both national and state issues, together with the records of the candidates of the two parties, with rare power and discrimination.

During his speech he was interrupted time and again by tremendous applause, the cheering often lasting for many minutes. The meeting was without doubt the most interesting and enthusiastic held in Sedalia during this campaign.

Mr. Reed was introduced by G. H. Scruton, who presented him to his audience as the man who, two years hence, would drive the "Mysterious Stranger" from the United States senate and become the rightful representative of Missouri in that chamber. This statement was received with tumultuous applause by the whole body of democrats present.

Mr. Reed spoke in part as follows: Ladies and Gentlemen: In brief preliminary permit me to say that I am and have always been very proud of our state. It is a magnificent commonwealth—a commonwealth of magnificent men and splendid women. It has always been a great state. Its people have always esteemed law, equity, justice, and have contended for and insisted on honest public service and decent private living. I have no patience with a man, or with anybody, that has been and is defaming the great state of Missouri. The claim that until recently the people of this state were not opposed to crime or corruption is to me an intolerable pretense.

I declare the fact to be that while some of us younger men were standing alone in the ante-room of creation waiting to be born the old fathers and mothers of Missouri were building school houses erecting temples of worship and following as high ideals of private life and civic virtue as have ever blossomed in the brain of men since the morning stars first sang the chorus of creation.

We have always been a law-abiding people; we have always been an honest people and when the assertion is made that the people of this state, as a mass, have not always been in favor of law, honesty and decency, it is the vilest slander.

It is a peculiar fact that our republican brethren seldom face us upon the real political issues of a campaign, but seek to gain advantage by setting forth some false and pretended issue in the hope that the people may thereby have their attention distracted from the real controversy. For years they declared the state to be non-progressive and its citizens a community of mossbacks.

They denounced the democratic party as dishonest, characterized democratic officials as embezzlers and thieves and declared if they could but gain access to the books of the state they would convict the state officials of peculation and robbery. Not a single republican leader believed the truth of these assertions, but they were willing to profit by mendacity and gather votes by slander of honest men.

HAVE HAD THE BOOKS

The party has had control of the state records for four years; they have not discovered the misappropriation of one dollar; they have not pointed even to a mistake of addition, and upon this, their favorite issue of the last campaign, they stand convicted—as much as Jesters—and with about the same intellectual cast of countenance.

In the present campaign they are resorting to their former tactics with such slight variation as the exigencies of the hour compel. Now, as in the past, they decline to discuss national issues. Now, as in the past, they refuse to front us upon national issues. Now, as in the past, they are seeking to win by false claims and slanderous statements. The appeal they now make is based upon the statement that the democratic candidate for governor was not fairly nominated. They are seeking by dissemination to create dissension in the democratic ranks and to gain votes for themselves. They go up and down the state insisting that democrats cheated each other in the primary and that therefore they ought to give their votes to the republican ticket.

A complete answer to this pretense is, first, that the complaint is one which does not concern the republican party.

Second, the last organization in the world to make complaint should be

SMITH-GEIGEL NUPTIALS

CEREMONY TO BE PERFORMED ON TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 11.

REV. FR. S. NEIBERG TO OFFICIATE

Will Be Married at Nuptial Mass at Sacred Heart Church—Have a Legion of Friends in the Prairie Queen.

A pretty though simple wedding ceremony that will cause surprise among the many friends of the contracting parties will be solemnized at Sacred Heart church, on the morning of Tuesday, November 10, when Shields R. Smith, local manager of the Bell Telephone company, and Miss Anna E. Geigel, of 501 West Sixth street, will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

Rev. Fr. Stanislaus Neiberg, pastor, will perform the ceremony during the celebration of nuptial mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Smasal, of Cole Camp, the latter a sister of the bride-to-be, will serve as groomsmen and bridesmaids, respectively.

The couple will leave that afternoon for Kansas City for a few days' visit with friends, and on returning here will make their home at 508 West Seventh street.

Mr. Smith, it can truthfully be said, is one of Sedalia's most promising and substantial young business men, possessed of splendid ability, coupled with integrity that commands for him the esteem and respect of every acquaintance.

Shortly after entering the employ of the telephone company's management he developed an unusual alertness for the business, and on the resignation of J. H. Rathbun, the local manager, about a year ago, Mr. Smith was promptly selected to fill the position.

Miss Geigel is the eldest daughter of William Geigel, a prosperous and well known farmer and stockman of Spring Fork, and is one of the Queen City's most estimable and popular young ladies. She is possessed of an affable disposition that endears her to every acquaintance, and at this stage, the most important in life, the Democrat-Sentinel joins every friend in wishing the popular young couple a long and happy married life.

The score was 35 to 4 in favor of Boonville.

Play was called at 2:30 o'clock. The Boonville team substituted several professional players to replace the regular men and to this fact is principally due the defeat of the Sedalia team.

A. Fast, Saturday filed a petition in circuit court, asking for a divorce from her husband, John Laybourn, a Missouri Pacific engineer.

Hoodlums Create Disturbance.

An aggregation of thoroughbred hoodlums created much unnecessary trouble at the Missouri Pacific station early this morning, defying the police and "sluths," and making themselves obnoxious to residents within four blocks of the station.

The party, consisting of about twelve, were mechanics of some description, destined to Joplin. After imbibing too freely they proceeded to the station an hour earlier than the arriving time of the train and began their boisterous actions.

A police call was sent in to headquarters, but somehow the authorities lacked the courage to arrest the offenders, and at 2 o'clock the "noisy dozen" boarded the train for their stopping point.

"APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC"

HON. WILLIAM J. BRYAN MADE IT AT WINCHESTER, IND., ON SATURDAY.

THREAT OF PANIC NOT TO SUCCEED

We Have Had Three Panics in 48 Years, Two Under High Tariff, and Each Was Under a Republican President.

Winchester, Ind., Oct. 31.—In an "Appeal to the Public," issued by Mr. Bryan here, containing six hundred words, the candidate outlines democratic principles as contained in the Denver platform and declares:

"The democratic party appeals to the awakened conscience of the nation, to a sense of justice in the human heart and to a growing desire for brotherhood."

"The attempt to terrorize the American vote by the threat of a panic will not succeed. We have had three panics in forty-eight years. Two came under high tariff, and each under a republican president."

Speaking of Mr. Taft, the democratic candidate says: "He has had the aid of the army, office holders, the support of all monopolies and the law-distributing trusts, a large campaign fund and most of the leading newspapers."

The Appeal closes with a protest against the president using that of office as a party or personal asset, and the statement that "the people should be absolutely free to choose whom they please."

John Cashman, of the legal department of the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis, delivered an eloquent talk on the democratic national, state and county ticket at Dobel's hall, Third and Engineer avenue, Saturday night.

The hall was well filled with enthusiastic supporters of the ticket, also many republicans, and the undivided attention of every auditor was given the speaker from the beginning to the close.

E. E. Johnston, O. M. Barnett and C. C. Lawson each delivered brief talks in the interest of the ticket.

Had 214 at Story Hour.

HE TRIED HARD TO SHUFFLE OFF

Officers Kept Him From Doing So and Locked Him in Jail—Other Victims of John Barleycorn Perform Various Stunts.

A young man giving his name as Gus Harper was arrested by Officers Jackson and Redmon Saturday night and locked in jail, pending trial in police court tomorrow.

Harper was beastly intoxicated and when arrested was vainly endeavoring to forcibly make his exit from the interior of the M. K. & T. freight depot. He had been locked in the building and about 11 o'clock ake up and discovered where he was. Finding all doors locked and also the windows he began smashing out the woodwork. His attempt to get out caused the neighborhood to become excited and a police call was sent in.

Just as the officers arrived Harper drew a knife with a six-inch blade, which he attempted to use in ending his life. Both wrists were badly lacerated, but the police disarmed him before serious injury had resulted.

W. J. Richards, hailing from Syracuse, who had imbibed too freely, was arrested by the night shift of police and locked in jail.

A third police call was sent in from West Fifth street early last night to frighten some boys playing Halloween pranks, but the youths had disappeared on the arrival of the officers.

A man, too drunk to give his name, was arrested by Officer Thompson Saturday afternoon and locked in jail, pending trial.

Early this morning a police call was sent in to arrest two negro boys, who were attempting to steal different articles from the show window in an Ohio street business house, having had access by reason of a broken window pane.

The law specifically provides that each voter may take four hours from his services to his employer during the hours the polls are open and is not to be liable for his absence to a deduction in wages.

The employer shall have the right to specify the hours the employee may go to the polls but should he threaten, the employee with discharge or any other penalty for taking time off to vote, the employer may be held guilty of a misdemeanor and fined $500.

Any person or corporation, who shall refuse to any employee the privilege hereby conferred; or shall discharge any employee for absents himself from his work for the purpose of said election, or shall cause any employee to suffer any penalty or deduction of wages because of the exercise of such privilege, or who shall directly or indirectly violate the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars. (Laws 1893, p. 157 amended, Laws 1897, p. 108)

EMPEROR WAS ATTACKED

In An Interview That Was Printed In London.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—According to the Nord Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, Prince Von Buelow, imperial chancellor, today offered his resignation to Emperor William in consequence of the publication in London of an interview with his majesty for which the prince took the responsibility.

The emperor would not accept the chancellor's resignation, and permitted the prince to publish a full explanation to meet the unjustifiable attacks made upon his majesty.

Vicious Halloween Pranks.

Halloween pranks attempted to demolish C. H. Daniels' popcorn and peanut stand at Fourth and Ohio avenue Saturday night, but were deterred in their work by the timely arrival of "The Man of the Hour," who vigilantly searched for the offenders; in vain, however.

The Weather for Sunday.

Partly cloudy Sunday; slowly rising temperature.WHERE WILL THE VOTES OF OR-GANIZED LABOR BE RECORDEDThe democracy of Pettis county, the democracy of the state of Missouri and the democracy of the republican party stand today as the champion of the wage earners of this country.
The democracy in turn asks these wage earners to stand by democracy in this election.The republican party, backed by trusts and combines, for years has claimed that the policies of the republican party have been in the interests of the wage earners of America.Every farmer, every laborer, in fact, every consumer has for years been bearing the burdens of indirect taxation and paying his tribute to the trusts of this country on every necessity of life, to the end and upon the theory that the tribute thus collected was somehow, in some way, to swell the bank account of the wage earners of this country.The pre-election republican trust-made panic that came upon us but a few short months since and at one blow stopped payment in every bank and turned millions of men out of employment and is ought to be an object lesson to every voter.
Notwithstanding the fact that for years we have been paying daily, weekly, monthly and annually tribute to the trusts under the republican plea that this tribute was imposed to benefit the laborer, still in less than three weeks from the time that the wage earner was thrown out of employment, strong, stalwart men, capable and willing to work, were foreced to join the bread line in all our congested centers and accept at the hands of charity what they were willing and anxious to work for, and what we had been taught to believe the tribute collected from us was to provide for.If the tribute that has been collected by the combines of this country by and through the republican high protective tariff has been paid by us to the end that the wage earners might receive it, then we announce that if the American wage earner had received 10 per cent of this tribute he would never have been compelled to beg for bread so soon after his employment ceased.The long bread lines in our cities with their gaunt and hungry faces is conclusive evidence that larceny has been committed by the trust magnates, and these trusts have been collecting money from us under false pretenses, the use of which would put the common man behind prison bars.Never before in the history of this country has any political party so unequivocally and so strongly pledged itself to correct these evils as does the democratic party in this campaign of 1908. William Jennings Bryan stands today pre-eminent as the most commanding figure in American politics that has as yet championed the cause of organized labor.If Mr. Bryan is elected on the 3rd day of November it will be an epoch-making day in the history of these United States, and the toilers of the future can point to it as the day of emancipation."Shall the people rule?" Let the answer come from the ranks of organized labor on Tuesday, Nov. 3, 1908.O. M. BARNETT FOR STATE SENATOR.For the position of state senator for this district, composed of the counties of Saline, Pettis, Benton and Hickory, Hon. O. M. Barnett, of this county has been honored with the democratic nomination.Mr. Barnett is well and favorably known by the people of this district, and especially by the people of Pettis county. He came here when a boy, and was here admitted to the bar,
and for fifteen years has practiced law in this county.In 1896 Mr. Barnett was elected to represent this county in the legislature of Missouri. In this session of the legislature Mr. Barnett was soon recognized as one of the ablest advocates on the floor of the house.Mr. Barnett in this session was one of the recognized leaders in securing the passage of the "fellow servant law," and other laws that were to the interest of the laboring people, who formed so large a percentage of his constituency. In recognition of his services in their behalf the labor organizations of Sedalia in 1898 showed their appreciation of Mr. Barnett's efforts by giving him a specific indorsement and a largely increased majority for re-election.In the general assembly of 1899
Mr. Barnett's ability was recognized by his appointment to the chairmanship of the judiciary committee, by far the most important committee of the house. During this session of the legislature Mr. Barnett contracted a severe case of pleurisy and for over a year was unable to attend to his business. After his recovery he again resumed the practice of law in Sedalia, and has won a name as a conscientious, careful advisor and vigorous advocate.Mr. Barnett's legislative experience fits him to at once take rank in the state senate, and if elected, anyone who has watched his record knows that all the interests of this district will be carefully looked after, and that the laboring men of the district will feel assured that every measure affecting organized labor will receive the same kindly consideration at the hands of Mr. Barnett that was characteristic of his record in the thirty-fourth and fortieth general assemblies
and that gave to him the almost unanimous vote of organized labor when he was re-elected in 1898.The Democrat-Sentinel comments thus freely on Mr. Barnett's record on the labor question for the reason that false reports are being circulated. The parties circulating these reports can not but know they are false. There is not a workman who was in the shops, in the yards or in the factories of Sedalia from 1896 to 1900 but what, if he will, can call to his memory the fact that in every measure in any way affecting organized labor that was before the thirty-
fourth and fortieth general assemblies
Mr. Barnett publicly and privately called upon them to express their views, and these men did, by letter and by petition, repeatedly expressing their opinions to him as to what they believed to be their interests, and there was no man upon the floor of the house who with more courage and more ability stood the champion of their cause than did O. M. Barnett, of Pettis.The democrats of this district pre-

the republicans of the state, because that organization never, in fact, had a primary. Attorney General Hadley with W. S. Dixey the head of the sewer pipe trust, together with two or three kindred spirits assembled in a back room, resolved that they were the republican party and made, substantially, the entire republican ticket. They so manipulated and managed everything that the republican voters had no choice except to ratify the selection so made. One of Mr. Hadley's employees, and perhaps the most useful man in the attorney general's office, Mr. Gentry, refusing to obey the mandate of the bosses, offered himself as a candidate before his party and for his tenacity was promptly discharged, by Mr. Hadley, an act which branded Mr. Hadley at once, as unfair, dictatorial and a mere bully.Third, the cry of fraud is given tongue by those engaged enemies of the democratic party, the Globe Democrat and the Kansas City Star, and all democrats and all citizens should know that the purpose of these organs is merely to destroy the democracy.
All democrats ought to understand that neither of these papers would hesitate at any extravagance, exaggeration or mendacity which will, inpaper. Perhaps he can destroy me politically, but by the living God he can not make me betray my party and the people of Kansas City."Cowherd kept the faith. He acquiesced the water works plant; the price of water was reduced 25 per cent to our citizens. The municipality has had free water and the plant for which we paid three million dollars, is today worth on the market from twelve to sixteen millions.But if Cowherd kept the faith, Nelson also made good his threat. During the two years, Cowherd was in office the columns of the Star were filled with vilification in every form of abuse, and during the long drawn out water works controversy it stood persistently and determinedly with the water works monopoly and against the city.During all the years which have intervened, although Mr. Cowherd has served his district with distinction in congress for eight years, has been conspicuously identified with nearly every great civic movement, has identified himself with everything that tended to upbuild Kansas City and make her great, the Star has never, to my knowledge, uttered one word in his commendation, but has sullenly and persistently sought his destruction.In this campaign the Star's slanderous statements are born of the hatred and malice it has nursed through all these years against Mr. Cowherd.

any manner, injure the party that they have so long sought to annihilate.The Kansas City Star in this campaign is especially the disseminator of these evil reports. It has filled its columns with falsehood and has sought by misrepresentation in every possible way to injure the democratic candidate for governor.Let me tell you the reason back of this bitter animosity of the Star.
About fourteen years ago Kansas City
was in the grip of a water works monopoly. It was extorting unfair prices and rendering inefficient service. An agitation for municipal ownership was begun. The democratic party declared for municipal ownership and nominated William S. Cowherd, then scarcely more than a boy, as its candidate for mayor. In a hard campaign Cowherd was elected by a decisive majority. During the entire campaign the Star advocated municipal ownership, denounced the water company for inefficiency and improper conduct and aided the democratic party in their campaign.Immediately after the election the Star suddenly saw a great light. It instantly changed front and began denouncing municipal ownership and fighting the very things it had before strenuously advocated.About this period William R. Nelson, editor and owner of the Star, sent an emissary to Mr. Cowherd and demanded that he appoint as a member of the board of public works a gentleman who was determinedly opposed to municipal ownership, and who was in every way friendly to the water works company. The board of public works had complete control of all water works matters, and the appointment of this man would have destroyed all chances of municipal ownership and annulled all of the efforts made in that direction. Mr. Cowherd stated that he would be glad to appoint a man who was satisfactory to Mr. Nelson, and the Star, but he could not appoint a man who was opposed to the very issue upon which he had been elected and to which his party was pledged. Mr. Nelson sent back this polite message: "You tell that young man he can appoint the man I name or take hell for two years. I will destroy him with my newspaper." This was in substance, at least, the message. Then the fighting Missouri blood arose in Mr. Cowherd. He promptly replied: "You can tell Mr. Nelson that I do not want any controversy with him or with hisTan Boots and

Wm. CourtneyMr. Dean called Nelson to his office and presented the notes for payment. Nelson stormed and cursed, declared that the notes had been given merely as a matter of bookkeeping;
that they were to be paid for in the services of the Star in the water works controversy, and that they had been so paid. Mr. Dean informed Nelson that he would have to make that defense in court. After considerable delay and a great amount of profanity Nelson paid the notes.
They bore substantially the date that Nelson changed the policy of his paper, as I have indicated, and substantially the date when Nelson demanded of Mr. Cowherd that he betray his party and his people by the powers would bar municipal ownership. These notes were the price the water works company paid to Nelson for his betrayal of Kansas City. They were, in short, thirty pieces of silver which this Judas accepted as the price of his honor. Raging because he had been compelled to disgorge his dishonesty, Nelson declared revenge against Mr. Dean, and from that day to this no decent word has ever appeared in the columns of the Star regarding Mr. Dean. Even when the Star published the names of the pallars who bore the honored remains of ex-Supreme Judge Francis M. Black from the hearse to the waiting room.

ing grave, the Star omitted the name of Mr. Dean from the list.

Actuated, then, by these motives of revenge, controlled by infamous and sordid considerations, what wonder is that the Kansas City Star in this campaign has not hesitated to thrust the crooked fangs of slander into the character of the man, who, when a boy, refused to obey its infamous demands.

William S. Cowherd is in this campaign being punished, libeled, slandered, abused and maltreated by the Kansas City Star for no other reason than that as the mayor of Kansas City he stood squarely and courageously for honesty, decency and the maintenance of good faith with the people who elected him.

The acceptance of this bribe by the Star was not of sporadic occurrence. That paper has leveled its tribute during all the years upon every corporate interest that could be compelled to pay tribute. For years it had its dirty hands deep in the pockets of the traction company of Kansas City. It collected equally from paving contractors, and only recently it was proven in court that at the very time when Kansas was engaged in a struggle with the Standard Oil Co. the Star was in the pay of that great monopoly.

Nor does Cowherd stand alone as the single honest man who has been attacked. On the contrary, this paper has abused and vilified almost every distinguished democrat in our state, thrust its forked tongue into the face of George Graham Vest, the little eagle of Missouri's democracy, and in whose dead dust there is more of virtuous honor than in the soul of one hundred thousand Nelsons.

It attacked, slandered and sneered at Francis Marion Cockrell, who led the grand Confederate charge at Franklin and for more than twenty years occupied a conspicuous and splendid position as Missouri's representative in the United States senate.

It abused and slandered Lon V. Stephens until that fighting democrat laid across the back of Nelson with a whip of scorpions that he fled to his kennel baying with pain and terror.

It denounced every official act of Alexander M. Dockery, lampooning him without mercy, simply because he refused to obey the dictates of the Star.

When William J. Stone inaugurated the fight on the lobby at Jefferson City, determinedly seeking its eradication in the passage and enactment of laws in the interest of railway employees, the Star, with the venom of a viper, spread the poison of its slander over his great name and has pursued him from that day to this hour.

For sixteen years there has never passed a day when the Star has not vomited the slime of its slander and the filth of its maledictions upon the name of the greatest man living—William Jennings Bryan.

It pursues virtue and all goodness as sharks pursue a ship laden with the dead. There may be some other institution, in some other calling, that for a single vice may challenge comparison with the Kansas City Star, but for a combination and harmonious blending of cowardice, blackmail, hoodluming, lying and general rascality, it stands without a peer.

This paper and the Hon. Herbert S. Hadley, therefore, are making much of the alleged election frauds. Let us discuss this question frankly. I give way to no man in the desire to keep pure and free from every taint of fraud the ballot of the citizen, and wherever fraud has been perpetrated I am in favor of the punishment of every offender, be he great or small, but I am not in favor of punishing the innocent or laying the charge of fraud at the door of an honest man. In no way a party or party to its perpetration. Neither am I willing that the just popularity of a candidate shall be tortured into evidence of a dishonest election. I live in Kansas City and know the political conditions there. The overwhelming majority received by Mr. Cowherd in Jackson county was the result, solely, of his popularity. Every element of the party, every leader of the party and practically every voter of the party wanted to see Mr. Cowherd nominated. He was a favorite son; he had served us with distinction, local pride, party fealty, everything conspired to bring about an almost unanimous vote.

The Hon. David A. Ball had the respect of many of our citizens. He was an ls entitled to the respect of all men, but he did not have a considerable following in our city, and no just man can or will claim that the vote was not an honest vote and honestly cast and honestly returned. Its unanimity, instead of being an evidence of fraud and badge of infamy, was, in fact, a public declaration of the confidence of Cowherd's neighbors and friends in him as a man and as a democrat. Just as the equally unanimous vote of Pike county was a just and fitting tribute to the sterling worth and high character of the Hon. David A. Ball.

I am not so familiar with the St. Louis situation, but this much I do know, that if there was fraud in that city it could not be laid at the door of either David A. Ball or William S. Cowherd, and it did not affect the general result or raise any just doubt as to Cowherd's nomination. No man is better acquainted with this fact than the Hon. Herbert S. Hadley, yet he is willing for the purpose of gaining votes, to not only seek to profit by the slanderous intimation that one or both of these gentlemen were parties to a dishonest election, but he is willing himself to aid in the dissemination of that calumny.

Nay, more, the Hon. Herbert S. Hadley has been the originator and disseminator, with his friend and champion, the Star, of other slanderous statements. He has given tongue to the assertion that Cowherd is the candidate of the breweries and the brewery interests. Among other charges he makes in rural districts is that the picture of M. Cowherd may be found in some saloons. I have yet to learn of a candidate of which the same charge might not truthfully be made. Not only in this campaign, but in the campaign of four years ago, you could find in many places where liquor is sold the classical outlines of Mr. Hadley's face. He has not been at all averse to receiving the support of all classes of citizens, including the colored friend and brother.

When Mr. Hadley and the Star intimate that Mr. Cowherd is the candidate of the breweries or of any other special interest, they add to their mendacity the even more detestable crime of hypocrisy. The last man in this world who ought to raise that cry is Herbert S. Hadley. He has been himself, knowingly, a beneficiary of brewery support and brewery money. It was proven before the senate investigating committee of the forty-third general assembly by the sworn statement of Adolphus Busch that in the closing hours of the last republican campaign, when it was too late to use money in any considerable amounts for legitimate purposes, the chairman of the committee, Mr. Neidringhaus, called together a few choice spirits in the wine cellar of Mr. Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing association. He stated to them that the republican national committee would contribute $25,000 if the republicans of Missouri would themselves raise an additional $25,000, and in that wine cellar, on that night, Busch and his brewery contributed $12,500, and Mr. Otto Stifel, another St. Louis brewer, contributed $6,250. Thus, three-fourths of the entire sum to be used was raised from two breweries, and this money, with the money received from the national committee, some $50,000 in all, was used on election day for the benefit of Herbert S. Hadley and his associates on the republican ticket. Each man entertains his own opinion of the transaction, but my judgment leads to one conclusion, namely, that the money was, in part at least, intended to be used for illegitimate purposes on election day, and that Mr. Hadley, who today stands upon the house tops crying purity, owes his own election, in part, at least, to huddle and booze.

His present pretense that the brewer are back of Mr. Cowherd, in the light of his own history, proves him to be an arrant pretender. "Woe unto you scribes, Pharisees and hypocrites, who make broad your phylacteries and enlarge the borders of your garments and thank God you are not as other men!"

Mr. Hadley knows there is not a more moral man in the state of Missouri than William S. Cowherd; not a more high minded citizen, not a more splendid gentleman, not a man whose public career and private life is free from all taint of wickedness.

There is one feature of this campaign to which I desire to direct special attention. I refer to the danger of mixed schools and the other evils attendant upon the improper handling of the race problem.

Let me review a bit of Mr. Hadley's history. For years he has been a dominant factor in the republican party of Jackson county. His counsels have been largely followed and his henchmen have filled the party offices and managed party affairs. There are nearly 10,000 colored votes in Kansas City. In order to secure this vote Mr. Hadley and his party associates have given the colored politicians preferment solely on account of their color. Each time the republican party has been placed in control of Kansas City the colored politician named Nelson Crews has been made clerk of the police court, and the white judge, white policeman and white prisoners have been obliged to associate with this colored man and his colored deputies. Each time the police records were necessary as evidence in any other court they were invariably brought. Invariably presented by a negro in whose custody they had been placed. Ignorant and incompetent black men have been made clerks in various city departments and the white ladies have been compelled to pay taxes and transact business with these colored men.

Our citizens have been treated to the delectable spectacle of white men working under black men upon our streets. The black man's superior position being due not to fitness, but alone to the fact of color. Negro guards were employed at the work house, where it was proven they compelled white women to expose themselves in their presence, and upon refusal beat them cruelly and brutally upon their naked backs with an instrument of torture manufactured out of rubber hose.

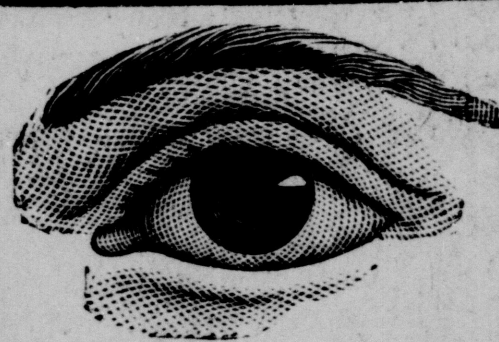

These conditions have obtained under every republican administration in Jackson county since the Hon. Herbert S. Hadley acquired the position of party boss in Kansas City. No man can deny that in the last republican state convention Hadley's word was supreme. His mandate was the law of the convention. That convention had eight places of honor and distinction which were above all others, namely, four delegates at large and four alternates at large. Mr. Hadley dictated who should fill these positions. He named himself and three white men as delegates at large and he selected four colored men as alternates at large, very properly picking as his own alternate this same colored ex-police clerk, Nelson Crews. More than this, when the delegates arrived at Chicago Hadley gave way to his honorable colored alternate, and the Hon. Nelson Crews was there present to represent the great state of Missouri and cast his vote against the reform resolution of LaFollette and to help frame a party creed for the republicans of the United States of America.

If, then, Mr. Hadley as party boss of Kansas City, has promoted colored men to positions, not because of fitness, but simply to hold the colored vote in line, if he has been instrumental in placing black men over white men, if he has been willing to create a condition which compelled white ladies of Kansas City to transact business with colored officials, if he was willing to select as his alternate a colored man to the national convention, if he was willing to do all this to increase his popularity with the colored voters, will not the same considerations lead him, if he be elected governor to seek further popularity by insisting upon, in the state of Missouri, that system of education to which Mr. Hadley was accustomed in his youth, namely, mixed schools, and will he not secure the passage of laws which will compel the children of white people to sit in the same seats and mingle with colored children? I affirm that it is my deliberate opinion that he would do this. I say now, as I have often said, that I am no enemy of the colored people. The real enemy of the colored man is the politicians like Hadley. In order to secure the votes of the masses of colored people he will advance to positions of superiority colored politicians who disseminate the opinion that the black man is the equal of any white man and from this opinion reach the opinion that a colored man is also as good as any white woman.

In the last municipal campaign large numbers of negroes were imported by the republicans from Kansas and Oklahoma. They were, of course, the more vicious, depraved and criminal of this race, but they came swaggering into our city, engaged in brawls, burglaries and crimes and finally created a condition where white women could not go upon the streets at night. More than twenty outrages were perpetrated in less than that number of days, until the shadow of a black terror hung over the soul of every white woman in the city, and until public indignation reached a point where it would have required but a match to have lighted the fires of persecution, in which the innocent, decent and law abiding citizen would have suffered along with the criminal. These men of the Hadley type, these politicians who crawl at the feet of the colored voter, who encourage false ideas and false notions, are the enemies of the colored race and are unworthy the support of any man who reveres the white mother who bore him, the white sister who has the right to his protection and the white wife he has taken to his bosom.

Ladies and gentlemen, there is one other question I want to touch on, and then I shall relieve you from listening any further. The republican party boasts that in 1890 it passed the John Sherman law, which declares all combinations in restraint of trade to be conspiracies and against the law and to be criminal. If that law had been enforced there would not be in the United States today a single trust. There could not have been a trust, for every trust there is, is a conspiracy and is a violation of that law, but it has not been enforced. Now, the republican party, having failed to enforce it, is proposing to thrust down the throats of the American people a new doctrine, which is to make the trusts and the combines of this country legitimate, and I charge that it is part of the set purpose and design of W. H. Taft. I go to Mr. Taft's book and I ask your attention to it. Mark this language from Mr. Taft:

"Mr. Bryan says that he would extirpate the trusts, root and branch. If Mr. Bryan's language is anything more than mere rhetoric, and he means to seize the property and divide it and sell it into parts and dismember those parts, then I am not in favor of his method of dealing with the trusts, because I believe that such large combinations legitimately conducted greatly add to the prosperity of the country."

W. H. Taft declares that these institutions that under the law are criminal and the proprietors of them criminals are a blessing to this country and declares that they should not be dissembled and compelled to resolve themselves into their constituent parts.

If you go to regulate the trusts the trusts are going to regulate you. You know they have been regulating you for the last fifteen years. Whenever you make legitimate monopoly in this country you destroy the liberties of the American people. Mr. Roosevelt tells us that there are good monopolies and bad trusts. You might as well talk about a good burglar in the place, or you might as well talk about organized larceny. There never was an organized monopoly that did not exist for the purpose of theft.

In one generation of time we of this country have produced a race of men who could sing songs that would ring through the ages as long as men shall love the hymns of liberty. We produced orators with words of flame that lighted the fires of patriotism in every human heart. We produced sculptors with matchless desire who carved from shapeless stone the form of beauty, grace and loveliness, and we produced men that could stand at the battle front and die that you and I and all of us might now be free. We made a race of men that gave to the world a new flag, that gave to humanity a new hope and gave to every nation on this earth a prospect of a higher and brighter life for all. And every man knew that opportunity had been placed within the grasp of the common people of this country.

We have builded here a temple and a citadel of liberty, and will so maintain it, the glories heritage of humanity until the end of time.

My fellow citizens, two visions rise before me of one hundred years from now in this country. Then, as now, the red sun will plow his fiery furrow through the azure sky. Then, as now, the stars will stud the firmament at night. Then, as now, the whispering winds will sing their hymns at eventide. Then, as now, the rivers' waters will gather from the snow-clad mountains and bear their burdens to the all-engulfing sea. Then, as now, the seasons will come and go. Spring will shake her golden locks and with a smile turn winter's snows into dancing, laughing brooks and send them dancing to the sea. And then, as now, summer will come, bearing in her glorious arms the golden grain; and autumn then will trip across the sea and turn the hills and valleys to the rainbow's magic hues and shades. Then, as now, winter will come with her snowy mantle and envelop the whole earth and gather her in the embrace of winter's death. Then, as now, great cities will rise, and spires and minarets will shine with gold each morning, and every ev-

Class In Gregg Shorthand

Quite a good sized class has been organized and will start in Gregg's shorthand Monday at Central Business College, Sedalia, Mo. All those who have been studying Gregg shorthand in the late Hill's Business College can be accommodated in this class.

We trust that no one will be backward about coming to Central Business College because he has studied other systems. We have been teaching for a number of years Gregg shorthand pupils, Sloan Duployan pupils, Pernin pupils, eclectic pupils, and in fact, those who have taken almost every imaginable system of shorthand. Many persons who have gone out to take positions from other schools that teach other systems have come to us to be prepared for better positions.

You will experience no difficulty whatever in making the change from one school to another. What you have learned in any school, I care not where it is, is good in Central Business College. What you have not learned we will teach you. Come, let us talk the matter over, and get started at once. Start with the rest who are coming, most of them tomorrow.

PRACTICAL TEACHING

THE SECRET TO THE SUCCESS OF CENTRAL BUSINESS COLLEGE.

THE BEST FACULTY IS EMPLOYED

Students Get the Experience of Able Teachers, and Are Readily Employed When They Finish School.

Several pupils have been placed in good positions the past week. More than fifty new pupils have been enrolled in the different departments of Central Business college the past week. Central Business college, in its different departments now has in actual attendance more pupils than all the business colleges in Sedalia had at this time last year, and ten times as many students are entering school as were entering last year. When we receive reports from all over the United States from business colleges of the decrease in attendance this year we feel encouraged in the efforts that we have been making for twenty-five years to conduct a first class institution, even though it does cost a little fortune to hire the right kind of a faculty and give the best advantages.

Many persons look through a business college and see office furniture, multigraphs, adding machines, phonographs, mimeographs and many other kinds of "graffs" and are deceived into thinking that the dead furniture makes the school. Equipment of a school does not consist of the dead things in a school principally, but it consists principally of the live things.

When you want to find out when a school is well equipped, learn whether the teachers have actually held positions in business at high salaries in the subjects that they are teaching, do they know office work or do they teach you theory. One can not well teach what he does not know himself.

Central Business college spends from $10,000 to $15,000 a year in employing the very best faculty that can be had and the best faculty in a business college does not mean the best theorists or the best educated men in literary branches, but it means the teacher who has a thorough literary foundation to start with and has erected on that a business education combined with actual experience.

The business pupil, that means the pupil in shorthand and bookkeeping both, is preparing himself for a business position, not for teaching, not for writing beautiful essays or eloquent orations, but for actual business, and the teacher who teaches him must be a teacher who understands thoroughly actual business. Such teachers are employed in Central Business college at a very large expense, and the pupils get the benefit of the kind of teaching such teachers can do.

We have just received a letter from one of our pupils in Kansas City, stating as follows: "I was just placed in a splendid position at $15 per week. I find any number of students looking for positions. Some have been idle for months. When I realize that I am just from school I certainly appreciate, not only the education that I received in Central Business college, but the influence that this institution has in placing its students in first class positions." We receive many such letters as this.

BUSTER BROWN AND TIGE

They're Coming to Sedalia Next Saturday—Of Interest to All.

Next Saturday Buster Brown and his dog Tige will hold a reception at the Globe Clothing and Shoe store, on Main street, when the little folks and older ones as well will have an opportunity to see and talk to Buster, who is today one of the most interesting characters before the American public. This reception is one of few held in various parts of the country each year under the direction of the Brown Shoe company, St. Louis.

The characters they present are identical with the ones presented in the comic sections of newspapers, so popular with young and old, and their visit to Sedalia will doubtless result in a royal welcome. Every boy and girl who attends the reception will be presented with a souvenir button of Buster and Tige and a little booklet with sayings of Buster and showing antics of both himself and Tige. The hour of the reception will be announced later.

HOLMES HALL FOR STATE SENATOR

Holmes Hall, republican candidate for state senator of this district, who now solicits the support of the voters in his behalf, was born at Lamonte, and has resided in Sedalia since 1892. He graduated from the High school here in 1895. He attended school at the State University at Columbia for two years, but was forced to drop out of school at the age of 18 because of the death of his father and the lack of funds with which to complete his course. He immediately secured a position in the Missouri Pacific shops as a machinist's apprentice and worked six years at that trade and thereby saved sufficient means to enable him to enter the law department of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. After completing his law course he returned to Sedalia and entered the law office of San- gree & Lamm, and six months later took the bar examination and was admitted to the bar in February, 1905. After the election of Judge Lamm to the supreme court bench Mr. Hall was appointed as his private law clerk, which position he held for two years and eight months, thereby receiving the best legal education possible to receive anywhere in this state. He returned to Sedalia and opened his law office the first of the present year. On the fourth day of last August he received the republican nomination for state senator in this district.

Born as he was in a small town and spending most of his childhood days on a farm, his early teaching and thoughts were along that line. He attended the public schools as any other boy and about the time he became "grown" we find him employed in the railroad shops as a wage earner, and he was employed at the shops sufficiently long to become entirely familiar with the conditions surrounding the wage earners in general, and will always be found to be a friend to those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. Since leaving the shops Mr. Hall has received a liberal and professional education, which naturally would tend to broaden his views. Since being admitted to the bar he spent over two years at the supreme court, there being associated with one of the most conservative bodies of men in this or any other state. Thus, with his experience along so many lines, coupled with his energy, honesty and integrity, we find in Holmes Hall an ideal candidate for the office which he seeks.

ening will give its crimson colors to the great palaces of wealth and the mighty citadels where men abide. Then, as now, nature will hold its course.

What of the human beings that make up the population of this country? Shall we behold a race that sits in the lights and shadows of the fire and will bow before their household gods and with bitter tongues complain of the liberties that have been lost to them? Shall we see men who walk in labor's mine and tread their way without a single ray of hope? Shall we behold the hovel of the one by the side of the palaces of wealth, and shall we see men who walk with bowed head and dull eye to their daily labor and to graves that yawn without hope? Shall this be the fate of the American people?

Or shall we have a race of men whose eyes are filled with all the fire of manly courage, men walking erect, who own the soil beneath their feet, who own dominion of the roofs above their heads? Shall we have a race of men of high courage and high resolve that control the sources of wealth, where each has plenty and where no man dwells in poverty? Shall we have such a race as this and women who shall walk as queens upon the earth to grace and glorify and make our country great and splendid for all the years to come?

The two pictures are before you. The policy of democracy will keep open the avenues of wealth, and all democrats to the American people to higher, grander and more splendid manhood. The republican policies point to an oligarchy of wealth, as opposed to the welfare of the masses of the people. You, in this campaign, must make your choice, my fellow citizens, and we call on you in the name of country, in the name of the good God, in the sacred name of the wife and the children you love, and in the name of the shadowy children who are yet to be born on this earth, to follow with the democratic party the lead of that man who has devoted his life to the people—the greatest of the living, the greatest patriot of the century, the bravest of the brave—Bryan, Bryan, Bryan—the idol of the American people, the leader of the people's hope.

I thank you.

MADE A SPLENDID RECORD

Judge A. L. Haggard as a Member of the County Court.

Judge A. L. Haggard, who is the nominee of the democratic party to succeed himself a judge of the county court from the Western district, has made a splendid record during the brief time he has held that office, says the Lamonte Record.

During the past few months the court has managed to have a large number of new bridges constructed in the western portion of the county. Several new bridges, which have been ordered, will be constructed as soon as the workmen can get to them. Through Judge Haggard's influence, vast improvements have been made in the roads of the county.

During the past few months the prisoners in the county jail have been made to work on the county roads, thus being required to pay in work the expense of their keeping. The system of working criminals upon the public roads has a deterrent effect upon the commission of petty crimes, as has been shown by a reduction in the criminal costs.

Judge Haggard is a practical farmer and a business man, and while he is by no means disposed to be parsimonious, he makes it his business to see to it that every dollar of the county's funds expended buys a dollar's worth of material or service, as the case may be.

Judge Haggard is the right man in the right place, and the voters of the Western district will make no mistake in electing him for another term.

A CLEAN DEMONSTRATION

Jesse French Piano Co. Entertained the Public in Unique Way.

"Arzo," the mechanical figure at the Jesse French Piano Co. attracted wide attention the past few days and the stunt was one of the cleverest ever presented to a Sedalia public. The demonstration was made as an advertisement for the popular piano store where it was given, and served its purpose nicely, attracting hundreds of people at each appearance of the figure.

Mr. Adamson, the genial manager of the store, is ever alert in getting and keeping his house before the public, and his efforts have without exception proved successful. Since the Jesse French people came to Sedalia they have not been sparing in publicity, realizing that it is the only way to get established and sell pianos.

The appearance of "Arzo" concluded with last night's performance, when hundreds of people watched the demonstration.

Seats of a King.

One is accustomed to think of a king or queen's throne. But most rulers have several thrones. King Edward of England has six. The most costly, that at Windsor castle, is composed entirely of carved ivory inlaid with precious stones. Most ancient of the thrones is that at Westminster, where the rulers of Great Britain are always crowned. It is of massive oak, and has beneath the seat a sandstone block known as the stone of destiny from Scone, which was the emblem of power of the Scottish kings.

Another throne, of Burmese teak, carved, gilded and studded with crystals, stands beneath a great gilt canopy in the house of lords. The throne in St. James' palace is very large and imposing, having a canopy overlaid with crimson velvet, which is embroidered with crowns set with fine pearls.

Saloon Thought No. 1

Over 10,000,000 people are living in the United States today in "dry" territory. There are today over 300 cities of over 5,000 each that are dry, and these cities amount to nearly 4,000,000 people. There are 90 cities in the United States of over 10,000 that are dry. Sedalia may vote to keep her saloons, but other cities, much more prosperous, see that the city is the same as a family, that it is better off without the saloon getting its money.

Wink & Blink

Many children are allowed to wink and blink through the day's study and go to bed with a headache and an awakening with a dread of the next day's study. This is entirely wrong; if their eyes were right the study would be a pleasure to them. Many a child is punished for being stupid and obstinate when it is the fault of their eyes.

Children of light parents are not usually dull unless there is a cause. If your child is not as forward with his studies or has tendency to play hockey, our optical expert is a past master of the art of testing eyes and will tell you whether the child needs glasses or not.

W. W. THE DR. CAMP MEDICAL CO.

Gentlemen:—About a year ago I noticed a small lump on my lower lip. It began to grow and a warty scab came on it. ## RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

END OF THE DECREASED RAILROAD EARNINGS APPEARS TO BE AT HAND.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

The end of decreasing railroad earnings seems to be at hand, after nearly a year of continued losses.

The September statement of the Union Pacific Railroad company, issued Friday afternoon, showed gross earnings $464,260 larger and net earnings $1,416,011 larger than in the same month last year.

The Southern Pacific statement for September showed a gain of $1,062,629 in net earnings, though the gross was $458,424 less than last year.

Thursday the Rock Island statement for September was issued, showing a gain of $48,988 in gross earnings and an increase of $113,144 in net earnings.

The Frisco's gross earnings for the month were $399,254 less than a year ago, though there was a small gain in net earnings.

Monday the statement of the Atchison railroad for September was published, showing a gain of $451,700 in net earnings, though gross earnings were $170,000 less than a year ago.

Another Big Passenger Depot.

The Pennsylvania railroad has offered to build in Baltimore the third largest passenger station in its system. Gamble Latrobe, acting general agent of the railroad here, laid the plans before the Union depot commission Friday.

All the ground plans have been completed and call for a building to be built somewhere between Maryland and Guilford avenues. It will be 100 feet wide and 300 feet long, extending about the distance of one city block. These dimensions are exclusive of train shed space.

The floor space will be 30,000 square feet, of which the main waiting room will occupy 8,160 square feet. An idea of the size of the waiting room may be gained from comparison with the area of the main waiting room of the Broad street station in Philadelphia, which has 10,000 square feet, or the St. Louis station, which is 9,000.

The commission was pleased over the prospects suggested by the plans, but it simply accepted them for consideration without abandoning its project for a union station, which has been suggested to care for the Baltimore & Ohio and Western Maryland railroads as well.

Had an Old-Hoss Sale.

The Pacific Express company held an "old-hoss sale" of uncalled-for packages, left in the company's charge, in a vacant storeroom on East Second street Saturday.

Kemp Hieronymus cried the sale. A novel plan adopted by those in charge was to dispose of every package before any were delivered.

Each package was numbered, and when sold the buyer was given a ticket with a corresponding number. After all packages had been sold the delivery was begun. There were some bargains, of course, but many were disappointed, paying for an expected something they failed to get.

Changes on the Gould Lines.

The following changes in the operating department of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain were announced Friday by George W. Smith, superintendent of machinery, effective November 1:

P. K. Tutt is appointed master mechanic at St. Louis in place of J. J. Reid, resigned.

M. M. Myers is appointed master mechanic at Osawatomie, Kas., in place of F. K. Tutt, transferred.

P. J. Conrath is promoted to master mechanic at DeSoto, Mo., in place of M. M. Myers, transferred.

Back to Work at Old Wage.

The strike of the Missouri Pacific section men is over, says the Pleasant Hill Times. They go back to work at the old pay—$1.25 per day.

When the men struck they went right to work on the rock road at $1.50 per day and were all right; but with the rains came a cessation of work on the road and the men were left the choice of going back to the section at the old pay or remaining idle.

The Katy's New Depot.

Richard Garrett, division engineer for the M. K. & T., arrived from Sedalia today and began the surveying necessary for the erection of the new Katy $20,000 station, says the Columbia Tribune.

All the preliminary work will be done, so that when the tenants of the houses on the building site move out construction can start.

Will Get Election Returns.

A general invitation to all conductors to visit headquarters in the Victor building at Tenth and Main streets, Kansas City, Tuesday night, to hear the results of the election and enjoy a social time was extended on a written communication posted at the local offices of the Missouri Pacific Saturday.

Matt McEniry's Baby Boy.

Matt McEniry, chief clerk for Division Engineer A. P. Morrison, of the Missouri Pacific, and wife, are rejoicing over the arrival of a bouncing son, born to Mrs. McEniry at Maywood hospital at 5 o'clock Saturday morning. Mother and babe are reported doing nicely.

THE MAN WHO SHOULD BE SHERIFF.

Our man has made the hardest fight for the office of sheriff of Pettis county. He has handed out 25,000 cards; he has spoken in nearly every church in the county; he has mailed literature to every voter in the county, outside of Sedalia, and has driven thousands of miles in canvassing.

We, the dry people, will never get another man to work like Mr. Ayers, and we will never get a man that would serve ALL the people any better than Mr. Ayers. He is not pledged to the saloons, or any of its interest, and every deputy in office will be a dry man, too, or he can't serve. And that is not all; he will never line up with the saloon. If he fails to be elected, it will be a long time before we can get ANYONE to make as good a race. He has made a hard fight, and it is up to the good people of Sedalia to ELECT him. He is worthy of the election, and SHOULD get it because he stands for the RIGHT, against wrong. Won't you give him YOUR support? It is a small thing to do to run down the ticket until you come to the office of SHERIFF, and simply write in the name of G. H. Ayers, and what it would mean to us when we have our next local option fight. "Give the under-dog a show" by helping us have ONE dry officer to enforce the law. THE DRY COMMITTEE.

Pleads That Manual Labor Places
Her Below His Station in Life
—Wife Tells of Toil for Her Children.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 31.—Like old Israel Putnam, hero of the revolution, Mrs. Ella Culver Voorhees, of Upper Aiton, has been called from the plow to fight the battles of her life. Her husband, Prof. George L. Voorhees, a former instructor in the Western Military academy, and now principal of the Samuel F. B. Morse school in Chicago, has sued her for divorce. He charges that she does farm work and that she is below him in the social scale. He frankly admits that he has a woman friend, Miss Geraldine Farrar, whom he calls his affinity.

For five years Mrs. Voorhees has toiled in the field and devoted herself to the care of her eight children. "It wasn't that I liked farm work," she says, "before my marriage my hands were fair and white. I did no harder work than to practice my music and to cultivate my mind."

"But when Prof. Voorhees and I separated I had this farm and had eight children to provide for. I have tried to make this property yield all it could. I have driven a team to the plow and to the harrow. I have milked nineteen cows."

"I have given my children a mother's care. I have had to be both father and mother to the little ones. And I am not ashamed that this has prevented my going into society as I used to."

Meanwhile, Prof. Voorhees is charged with having been cultivating the new thought, of which Ferdinand Pinney Earle has been looked upon as the embodiment. He admits that a man of his culture and refinement found farm life exceedingly distasteful. The farm was purchased and was the Voorhees home before he departed for Chicago.

He confesses that he does not consider a woman who works afield, behind the plow, and who toils in the barn where the cows are kept, a fit person to be the wife of one occupying such a position in life as he does.

The professor says frankly that Miss Farrar, daughter of his former landlady, is "a very charming woman." Mrs. Voorhees, in the cross-bill to his petition she has sent to Chicago, charges that the professor has beaten rugs and washed dishes in the Farrar home and that he has escorted Miss Farrar to theaters and other places of amusement.

The publication of news stories about the Voorhees divorce suit has set lawyers for both sides to work up witnesses. Neighbors and school children will testify for the professor and friends of Mrs. Voorhees will testify in her behalf.

Voorhees denies that he did any sort of domestic work in the home of his former landlady, whose daughter is named by Mrs. Voorhees. He also denies that he has any thought of marrying the young woman dubbed his "affinity."

The professor's lawyer says that the young woman is a friend of Mrs. Voorhees.

To a reporter Friday Mrs. Voorhees told the story of her life. She said:

"I had a happy girlhood. My parents were well to do and our social relations were most delightful. My home was in Madison, Wis. I met my husband at a reception to the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. He was a poor boy who was working his way through school."

"My parents did not approve of our friendship. He had no prospects then, and our courtship was almost clandestine. I loved him and when he asked me to marry him I eloped with him gladly on Aug. 5, 1879."

"The first few years of our life together were happy, although the shock to my mother of our marriage caused her to have a nervous trouble from which she has never entirely recovered."

"We lived at several places in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois. At Montevideo, Minn., where he was teaching school, he staked out a claim and we lived on the farm. In those days I loved him with my whole soul. I would have made any sacrifice on earth for his pleasure or to procure the realization of his ambition."

"I went among the neighbors and had them teach me how to care for horses, how to plough, how to do all sorts of farm work, how to cook and bake bread, so that I could work for him and help to accumulate the competence he seemed to desire so much."

"At Austin, Ill., we had a beautiful home, almost a mansion, but he would not let me keep a servant, although we had several children. I cared for the big house and the children all alone, washing the windows and expending my strength in trying to make a pretty, attractive home for him. But he refused to let me entertain my friends as I wished to do. He wanted me to do nothing but toil day in and day out."

"When he was offered the place on the faculty of the Western Military academy and bought the farm, I did not want to live on the farm. Years of ingratitude on his part had dissipated my enthusiasm for that sort of thing, but he made it so unpleasant for me that finally I consented. While he taught at the academy I did the farm work and cared for our children. "When our youngest child was born he didn't want me to have a doctor. I worked in the orchard most of that day and he left me alone. When I was taken ill I was alone in the house with my smaller children. They managed to get a doctor to me. "Those were sad days. He had a quick temper and when he became angry he cursed me. At night, if a bit of temper seized him, he would leave the house and sleep in the barn. He kept an account of every penny spent. Once he became furious because I spent 50 cents for stockings. He didn't want us to use pepper, because he said that was extravagant. When I had pepper on the table once he got mad and dumped it all on a dish of potatoes."

"Last summer I was looking through the family Bible and on the page where the family records were entered I found this notation in his handwriting: 'Separated May 14, 1904. For very insufficient causes Ella C. Voorhees forces George L. Voorhees to give up home and children by deed and agreement.'

"The facts were, he was dissatisfied, and I offered to take the farm and care for the children, paying him a certain percentage of the farm profits. This was accepted in a secret agreement made for the purpose of avoiding the scandal of a divorce. I never would have spoken of that to my dying day if he had not violated the agreement by filing suit for divorce in Chicago."

"I did a little detective work on my own hook last summer. I went to Chicago and saw him with his affinity. She was dressed in silks and costly clothing. They were at the theaters. I saw them several times."

"After all I had suffered it was hard to restrain myself from rushing at her and tearing those fine clothes off her and musing the fancy hair dress she wore. But I didn't. I couldn't bring myself to make a scene."

"I did what I always have tried to do—bore my burdens in silence and with all the courage at my command."

"It is not the pleasantest thing in the world for a woman to do the rough work of a farm. But in the old days, when I loved him, it was a joy to me, for it meant his advancement. Since he went away it has meant the means of providing for my children, and I have never complained."

The Voorhees farm, known by some strange caprice of fate, as "Sunny-side," contains 160 acres. It is bottom land and one of the best kept and most beautiful farms in the vicinity of Aiton.

Will Spack at Houstonia. S. M. Jordan and F. G. King, sent out by the state board of agriculture, will speak at Houstonia on November 16 and 17.

CLOSE OF THE CAMPAIGN

PAST WEEK WAS LIVELIEST POLITICALLY IN HISTORY OF GOTHAM.

ALL OF THE BIG GUNS WERE THERE

Personal Liberty Is the Great Issue in the State Campaign—More Interest Than in the Presidential Race.

BY GLENN GUERNSEY.

New York, Oct. 31.—Autumn, it may be said without violating any confidence, is here. The good old summer time Coney Island and Matheuson are glories of the past. The last of the summer vacationers are back in town. The shutters have been taken down from the windows of the brown stone fronts, and the white lights have been put up at all the Broadway theaters. Fifth avenue again presents a scene of activity. The rah-rah boy is here in all his glory of loud raiment and louder voice. So, indefinitely, symptoms might be recounted to prove that autumn has overtaken its destination.

Surest sign of all, however, is the political excitement that is now agitating this village. During the last week the metropolis has been invaded by personages of no less importance than William Howard Taft and William Jennings Bryan. Sitting at their feet, we have imbibed the political wisdom of all the ages. Less recently Mr. Eugene Victor Debs—whose middle name possesses no especial significance—Debs, the "uncrowned" orator of the Coming Revolution, preached to us of socialism and salvation. The voice of William Randolph Hearst has made the welkin ring more than once in the last few weeks.

More Interested in Governor. One and all, New York has accepted them with exceeding fervor. All have their devoted followers in this cosmopolis of political faiths. Yet, if the line of conversation is to be overheard in public places is to be accepted as a criterion, New York is vastly less interested in the national election than in the contest for the governorship. Whether Mr. Hughes or Mr. Chanler is to occupy the executive chair at Albany is the burning question of the hour.

The enemies that Mr. Hughes has made through his anti-race track gambling crusade are many and powerful and possessed of much influence and plethora purses. The so-called "better classes" are largely the supporters of Mr. Hughes, although Mr. Chanler, as a person of considerable wealth and standing, also has his adherents among the socially superior.

Personal liberty is the great issue in the state campaign, at least so far as Greater New York is concerned. The New Yorker demands the right to play the ponies and indulge in his favorite tipple on the first day of the week, and he thinks that Mr. Chanler would be far less likely to interfere with such liberties than Mr. Hughes.

This may not be a great or noble purpose, but the metropolis takes its amusements very seriously and has no time or inclination for such abstract issues as the tariff or the currency. That is why the national campaign orators are playing second fiddle to the state stump speakers.

Whiskers in the Campaign.

Trivial as it may seem, the elaborate adornment of Governor Hughes has also served to arouse antipathy to him among the sophisticated Gothamites. It has been said that truth often falls in a conflict with error, but laughter, never. Ridicule is often the most effective weapon available in a political campaign and the whiskers of Mr. Hughes have become a public laughing stock. By some strange and undivined mental process, the average New Yorker looks upon a beard as the mark of a "rube," and for the man who wears one he entertains supreme contempt.

If Governor Hughes had visited a barber several months ago, his chances of success next Tuesday would undoubtedly be better. New York admires a shrewd rogue or a successful scoundrel, but it can never forgive any violation of its social or tonsorial standards.

Publicity Molders.

If Mr. Chanler should be elected governor of the Empire state, it will be in spite of the almost unanimous opposition of the daily press of New York city. But there will be nothing unprecedented in that. It is regrettable, but nevertheless true, that the newspapers of the metropolis exercise less influence upon the results of a political campaign than those of any other city in the land. Most of them lack even the support of the men who write their political editorials.

When William R. Hearst was running for governor—or thought he was running—against Charles E. Hughes, the leader writer of a certain newspaper, one of the most famous journalists in the country, took a prominent part in the campaign. Day in and day out he urged upon his readers the necessity of voting, declaring with apparently sincere enthusiasm that the future of the state rested upon the result. Yet when election day arrived he did not go near the polls.

There are thousands and thousands of habitual non-voters in New York, but it is likely that journalists lead the procession of those who neglect to exercise the prerogative of citizenship. Enforced familiarity with politicians and politics necessarily breeds a contempt not compatible with the lofty patriotism of those who are not familiar with the wire-pulling and scene-shifting that goes on incessantly back of the stage.

Election Enthusiasm.

Dealers in instruments of torture are making ready for a good business on Tuesday, when the usual holiday crowd of a million or two mad New Yorkers will gather about the various newspapers to hear the returns. "Hearing the returns," however, is but an excuse for a night of fun and frivolity that exceeds in violence even the annual New Year Aebach. Horns, bells, booze and "ticklers" are the principal mediums for expressing the overflowing patriotism of the hour. The breweries are working overtime to satisfy the thirst of the election-night crowd. Men and women will drink who never drank before, and the habitual souses will drink the more. If the returns from two precincts in Prairie Dog county, Idaho, show that Bryan is ahead, the democrats will cheer until hoarse and then lubricate their parched throats. If Hughes gets forty-seven votes to Chanler's twenty-three in Canaoharie, the republicans will take their turn at the rahogany bars. It will be a joyous night for everybody but the losing candidates and those who have placed bets on them.

EUGENE CHAFIN, AGED 56

HE IS THE PROHIBITION CANDIDATE FOR CHIEF EXECUTIVE OF NATION.

TALKED LOCAL OPTION IN SEDALIA

Took Part in the Local Option Campaign Here and Entertained Large Crowds on the Market Square.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Eugene W. Chafin, prohibition candidate for president, will tomorrow celebrate his 56th birthday. Many messages of congratulation have arrived at the party headquarters in this city for the standard bearer of the "dry" cause. While he has no hope of election to the high office for which he is a candidate, Mr. Chafin believes that the prohibitionists will cast a larger vote next Tuesday than ever before, and that such an expression of popular sentiment will arouse the old parties to the necessity of adopting national prohibition of the liquor traffic as a campaign issue in future elections.

Mr. Chafin has made a strenuous campaign in behalf of the party and has spoken in all parts of the country to large and enthusiastic crowds. His stumping tour has been marked by many spectacular incidents. He was at Springfield, Ill., during the race riots, and by his brave stand against the maddened mob and at great personal risk succeeded in saving the life of an innocent negro, whom the crowd was bent upon lynching.

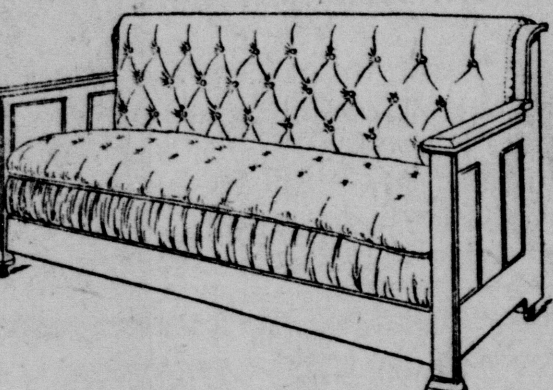

The prohibition presidential candidate was born in East Troy, Wis., Nov. 1, 1852, his father being Samuel E. Chafin and his mother Betsy Polard Chafin. He was educated in the public schools and later attended the law department of the University of Wisconsin, from which he was graduated. He entered upon the practice of law at Waukesha, Wis., in 1876, and continued the practice of his profession in that city until 1900, when he removed to Chicago. Early in his young manhood he became identified with the cause of temperance and prohibition, and was soon prominent as a speaker and organizer in such movements. In 1886 he was elected grand chief templar of the Good Templars in Wisconsin, which position he held for four years. In 1904 he was elected grand chief templar of the Good Templars in Illinois. For four years—from 1901 to 1904—he was superintendent of the Washingtonian home a refuge for inebriates in Chicago.

In 1882 he was a candidate on the prohibition ticket for congress in Wisconsin, and in 1903 a candidate of the same party for congress in Chicago. In 1896 and 1900 he was the candidate of his party for attorney general of Wisconsin, and in 1904 he was candidate for attorney general in Illinois. In 1898 he was candidate for governor of Wisconsin.

SAYS SIRE BANKED IN STUMP

Man Claims $4,500 Found on Farm Father Owned.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 31.—Daniel Hare appeared before the Orphans' court here and asked that $4,500 in gold found on the farm of Louis Calph be declared part of the estate of his father.

When Joseph Hare died, in 1891, members of his family looked in vain for the money they knew he had. The estate was settled up and in course of time the farm was sold to Louis Calph.

Recently Ella Hare, a relative of Calph, picked up a $10 gold piece near an old stump near the house. She told Calph of her find and he went gold hunting in the stump. He brought to light $4,500 in gold coins of various denominations.

Southwest

—the land of opportunities offers exceptional advantages to those seeking better locations.

Nowhere else in the United States is the diversity of soil so great, the ground so rich and fertile. Nowhere else are the climatic conditions more favorable. In no other section is there such a surprising and unexpected development in new directions. Nowhere else are there better, or more, opportunities open to men of average means and intelligence than on the broad prairies of Oklahoma and Texas.

This is a condition that cannot last long as settlers are pouring into the country and land is increasing in value every day. The man who buys now can be independent in a few years.

Catholic Centennial in Boston.

Boston, Oct. 31.—Catholic clergy from all over the land, including many dignitaries of the Roman church, will take part in the celebration next week of the centennial of the see of Boston.

A large parade of the Holy Name society will be held tomorrow as the initial feature of the festivities. A special centennial medal has been struck to commemorate the occasion.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we would properly investigate them, and in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver purifier, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unobscured testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic troubles, painful periods, irregularities, prolapses and other displacements caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines, and physicians had failed.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle wrapper.

Miss Longan possesses a contralto voice of unusual sweetness and wide compass. Her numbers were well selected and admirably adapted to her voice. Miss Longan leaves Monday for Louisville, Ky., where she will be under the training of one of the foremost teachers of voice in the country. Miss Norton proved herself to be a reader of exceptional ability, and captivated her audience. Miss Shultz is one of the best pianists in Sedalia, a music-loving city, where her work is very much appreciated.

Members of Sweet Springs' younger social set will go out to the country home of Miss Myrtle Smith, near Dunksburg, Saturday evening, Nov. 7th, to participate in the annual possum hunt, which she arranges for her friends. After the hunt the party will be entertained in the beautiful Smith home over Sunday.

Miss Edith Jackson was hostess to a party of her young friends Saturday evening at an enjoyable Halloween party. The costumes of the guests, the games played and the refreshments served were all suggestive of Halloween, and afforded the merry makers much amusement. Miss Jackson is popular among her associates and her invitations are always appreciated.

The many friends of Mr. C. E. Davis in and near this city will be glad to know that he is improving in health and gaining some flesh since going to Silver City. A communication from Mrs. Davis, who accompanied her son, states that he is in a sanitarium and that if he continues to improve, she will return to her home in Houstonia.

Directors and patrons of the city schools are gratified over the excellent condition of affairs under the capable management of Prof. J. C. Winders and his efficient corps of assistants. The pupils enter and leave the building in double files, to the tune of the drum and triangle, and the facility and precision with which they respond to the fire drill shows the careful training they have received.

The news of the death of Dr. W. N. Graham in Excelsior Springs Wednesday was received here with profound regret. Dr. Graham was known here principally through his connection with the Sedalia Democrat, which made for him a reputation as one of the foremost newspaper men of the state. He was at one time sergeant-at-arms of the Missouri legislature, later a commercial traveler before taking up newspaper work, and was brought into contact with men in every walk of life. To each he was a friend in the truest sense of the word, and no man who ever resided in this section of the state had such a wide acquaintance.

Members of the Priscilla club and some sixty additional friends received dainty invitations to attend a Halloween party at her beautiful country home, Sunny Cole farm, Saturday afternoon. The invitations were cleverly designed Jack-o-lanterns and were inscribed as follows: "Mrs. Joan Hicklin on Halloween afternoon, in old ugly house to which she has right, invites all the spooks to convene for some fun from 2 o'clock to 5 p. m. Sheet and pillow case robe will be our intention. Sundaydale farm will be the haunt for convention.—Priscilla Club, Oct. 31, 1908."

CAN'T PAY THE INTEREST!

The Operating Expenses Have Exceeded the Receipts.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—An appeal has been made to the federal courts to straighten out the affairs of the Chicago Union Traction company and the Chicago Consolidated Traction company, as the interest on the bonds of the corporations fall due tomorrow. The Central Trust company, of New York, as receiver of the companies, declares that it has no fund for the payment of the interest, and has petitioned the courts for instructions.

The petition states that the books and accounts of the Chicago Consolidated Traction company show that up to May 31, 1906, the operating expenses exceeded the receipts by $927,514. On the same date, the petition recites, the total deficit of the company, including unpaid interest on bonds, was $3,357,514.

Since that date interest on $657,000 bonds of the North Shore railway had fallen due and has not been paid. In addition, interest on the bonds of half a dozen other underlying roads and rentals on the same roads will be due tomorrow with no funds to pay either.

TURKISH REFORM PARTY

FIRST PARLIAMENT WILL CON-VENE AT CONSTANTINO-PLE TODAY.

FORERUNNER OF ADVANCED NATION

Trouble in the Balkans, the Loss of Bulgaria and Possibility of War Bode Ill for the First Parliament.

Constantinople, Oct. 31.—In response to the imperial tirade of Sultan Abdul Hamid, following his restoration last July of the constitution of 1876, the first Turkish parliament will convene tomorrow. The Turkish reform party, the Young Turks, is hopeful of great and momentous results from the coming session, looking upon it as the forerunner of an advanced and modernized nation, freed from the bloody despotism that has so long disgraced Turkey in the eyes of the civilized world and made it the plague spot of Europe.

The present trouble in the Balkans, the loss of Bulgaria and the possibility of a long and ruinous war, bode ill for the first parliament of the Turks. Then, too, a majority of the European residents of Constantinople look upon the restoration of the constitution and the convocation of a parliament as merely a diplomatic move on the part of Abdul Hamid. They believe that the present dissensions in the Balkans were foreseen by the wily old sultan and that his apparent change of heart to a constitutional government was merely a "play to the galleries," cleverly designed to gain the sympathy of Europe.

Western Europeans can not understand how a government which for centuries has practiced corruption and tyranny can in a single day be transformed into a constitutional government, or how a monarch of the type of the present sultan, who, since his ascension to the throne, has butchered more than 400,000 persons, and robbed millions of his subjects, can in so short a time become a reformer and a benevolent ruler.

Abdul Hamid has shown a remarkable mastery of the tricks of diplomacy, and he is using them now. He watches the undercurrents of European politics and he knows how to extricate himself from the most critical situations. He is an analyst of men and a psychologist. During the first period of the Armenian massacres he knew how to neutralize the powers by sowing discord among them. Many believe that he will do away with the constitution as soon as it serves its temporary purpose, just as he did with Midhat Pasha, its author, whom he caused to be beheaded. To make sure that the execution was accomplished, he had Midhat's head embalmed and sent to Constantinople.

If this grant had been wrung from the sultan by force, if it had been bought with the blood of rebellious patriots, it would be a hard matter for the sultan to withdraw it; but as it is a free gift he will meet with no such difficulty. Abdul Hamid, with all his murderous tendencies, is still the greatest diplomat that Turkey has ever had to rule her. It is true that if he had used his talents for the benefit of his people, Turkey would have become once more a ruling factor in the affairs of Europe. But Abdul Hamid, inheriting the faults of his decadent family and the sickly constitution of his father, Abdul Medjid, is a degenerate of the worst kind.

When in 1876 Murad V was made sultan and was declared the first constitutional ruler of Turkey; the people rejoiced, for they expected great things from him. He had been Europeanized, but the tricks of Abdul Hamid, then a prince, with the nervous excitement brought on by the dethronement and assassination of his uncle, Abdul Aziz, soon made a wreck of Murad. Fetva Emini, the grand interpreter of the koran, was bribed, and Murad was placed in an asylum, and Abdul Hamid II was proclaimed in his stead. Hamid promised every good thing that his ministers put before him. He swore to respect the constitution and to give up the crown as soon as his brother, Murad, recovered.

On the Sunday morning before the declaration of war against Russia a young professor of the University of Constantinople, Ali Suavi, started a revolution to liberate Murad. The latter had said that there would be no war with Russia, that there ought to be a reform of the administration in the Balkans, that autonomy should be given to the Bulgarians, and that his subjects in Turkey should be relieved of oppression. Murad feared that Suavi's movement was a trap, and refused to leave the asylum lest his brother cause him to be beheaded.

If you are of those who like to line up with the rest in preserving "good form" in the matter of dress, you will take a hint from me and get the best tailor service in this locality. My business maxim is to make walking advertisements of every one of my customers, dressing them objects of envy to their fellows. I can point with pride to those for whom I have the honor of making clothes. There is a distinctive air about them that constitutes an individual style.

WEISBURGH,

Men's Tailor.

213 Ohio St.

All Suavi and his adherents were massacred by the sultan's soldiery, and Murad became permanently a prisoner. The constitution of 1876 was torn to fragments, and the members of the assembly and senate were driven by troops from the Eski Serail, where they were in session. Since then Hamid has been the sole authority in Turkey. The loss of Bulgaria, the loss of Egypt, the autonomous government of Crete, wrested from him by superior force, the Armenian and Macedonian revolutions have been the outcome of his reign. Turkey has become a vassal of Europe, the influence of Germany predominating.

When the six signatory powers of Europe took up the Macedonian question about five years ago, it was agreed that their ambassadors at Constantinople should have a hand in the carrying out of reforms in Macedonia.

They selected as the head of the gendarmerie an officer of a minor European power. Orders for the policing of the provinces were to be taken from no one but him. The taxes derived from the Macedonian provinces were to be used for the necessities of those provinces only, and the governor general selected by the sultan was to be persona grata to the ambassadors. The sultan gave his sanction to the stipulations, but in an underhand way he sent his own emissaries to Macedonia to frustrate the reform measures. By promising advantages to the Greeks in Macedonia he incited the Bulgarian hatred against the Greeks; by using the Servians against the Albanians and each race against the others he put an end to all internal harmonies, and above all, through his great authority over the Mohammedans and Caliph of the prophets he caused to be preached to the Mohammedans a holy war in Macedonia against the Christians. Germany argued that the trouble was an internal one and concerned Turkey only, and that she should be allowed to regulate matters in her own way. Thus the concert of Europe was once more out of harmony and gradually Macedonia was left in the hands of the sultan to do as he pleased.

During these last five years there has been a constant dispatch of troops to Macedonia, and the army there under the command of the sultan is now 50,000 strong.

These soldiers thought that they would have an easy task; that pillage and enrichment would follow their arrival, but by some unexpected arrangement between the Turks and the Christians, owing to the partnership of all the revolutionary committees of the oppressed races, headed by the young Turkish party, they found a determined resistance. The sufferings they have had to endure, together with the non-payment of wages and the influence of the Mohammedan population, who convinced them that the real enemy of the country was not the Macedonians or the Albanians, or the Turks or the Armenians, but the palace clique at Constantinople, headed by the sultan, have greatly demoralized them. Two generals were assassinated in quick succession, and it was then reported that the troops had mutinied and had made common cause with the Armenians. This was bad news for the sultan for his body guard in Constantinople are all Albanians, and upon their fidelity he had counted as his best security.

Extreme consternation followed. The sultan saw that the old trick of changing the grand vizier would not suffice. So he thought to conciliate the party of the young Turks at least temporarily. They had repeatedly asked for the constitution of 1876.

That is the story, but the future is most uncertain.

MISSOURI HAS NO STATE FLAG

Daughters of American Revolution Also Find Seal Is Deficient.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 31.—Kansas City chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has learned that the state of Missouri has no authorized flag and that its official seal is deficient in its appointments.

Mrs. Alice Ewing Walker, of Kansas City, made a search of the records of the legislature at Jefferson City and found none of the state ever having adopted a flag. She found, too, that no two authorities agree on the Missouri seal. Some books say the bears on the seal should be white and others that they should be of the grizzly variety.

Mrs. Walker brought these facts to the attention of the Missouri D. A. R. at its recent conference at Columbia and urged that action be taken to remedy the deficiency. A committee was appointed to investigate and determine upon a plan of action. Mrs. Walker and Mrs. B. T. Whipple are the Kansas City members of the committee.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Your Life When a Sedalia Citizen Shows You the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Sedalia testimony: Joseph Adams, blacksmith at 216 South Osage street, and living at 417 West fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I was troubled for years with a constant misery in my back and sharp pains along the channel running from the kidneys to the bladder. During the night I would have to get up four or five times to pass the secretions, especially in cold or damp weather. I went to the W. E. Bard Drug Co., procured Doan's Kidney Pills and used them according to directions. After using three boxes I did not have to arise at night so frequently, and my back was free from pain and was stronger than it had been for a long time. From my experience I can say that Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to bring beneficial results in all cases of backache and kidney trouble."

S.S.S. A CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood, which is carried through the circulation to all portions of the system. Every muscle, nerve, bone and joint absorbs the acid, pain-producing poison, causing aches, inflammation, stiffness and other well known symptoms of the disease. Permanent relief from the pains and discomfort of Rheumatism cannot be expected from the use of liniments, plasters, and other external treatment which does not reach the blood, where the cause is located. Such measures give temporary relief, but in order to cure Rheumatism the uric acid and inflammatory poison must be expelled from the blood. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes the uric acid and drives it from the blood. S. S. S. expels the irritating, inflammatory matter which is causing the pain, swelling and other discomfort, enriches the weak, sour blood, and permanently cures Rheumatism. In all forms of Rheumatism, whether acute or chronic S. S. S. will be found a safe, vegetable remedy, possessing the properties needed to cure, and at the same time a medicine that builds up the entire system by its fine tonic effects. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

Every young man should find out if there is work in the navy he enjoys doing. If he is industrious and efficient, promotion will follow with increased pay.

Navy life is interesting. The vessels of the fleet furnish a great variety of employment. The incentive to get ahead, to become smart, quick and practical, is attracting thousands of young men to the service. The opportunities to master a trade appeals to all ambitious young men. The chance to see something of the world and at the same time to save money, does not come to the average young man in civil life.

When a man is up to the navy standard of efficiency he can hold his own in life outside the navy. The navy needs mechanics as well as seamen—electricians, machinists, firemen, carpenters, stenographers, bookkeepers, good cooks, bakers, waiters, musicians, and men for the hospital corps.

The government will train you at its own expense in one of its technical classes. Your pay begins the day you enter. The work is intended to prepare you in a short time for transfer to sea duty.

The quickest way to find out about pay, chances to save and the requirements for enlistment, is to go to the Navy Recruiting Station at Postoffice building, Kansas City, Mo. If living at a distance write the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

Twenty-Six Years E. E. Johnston Has Aided and Abetted All Advancements in Pettis County.

¶ In the legislature he championed the bill placing prosecuting attorneys on a salary—which wiped the fee system out of existence, saving the taxpayers thousands of dollars annually. He secured the passage of the bill in the House, which becomes effective January 1, 1909.

¶ He secured $200,000 for the State Fair, and expects to continue to work for this institution which is the pride of Sedalia and Pettis County.

¶ Forty thousand children are now attending school that did not do so prior to the enactment of the compulsory attendance at school law, which was introduced by Mr. Johnston, and successfully caused its passage.

UNIFORM BILL OF LADING

ONE RECOMMENDED BY INTER-STATE COMMISSION EFFECTIVE TODAY.

DRAFTED BY SHIPPERS AND OTHERS

Claimed That the Adoption Will Be a Long Step Toward Uniformity, Simplicity and Certainty for All Concerned.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In the territory of the Trunk Line and Central Freight associations, the new standard uniform bill of lading drafted by a committee of shippers and railroad traffic officials, and recommended by the interstate commerce commission, will become effective tomorrow, and hereafter only the two forms embodied

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN.

And the result is usually a spoiled gown. Not so serious a matter as first thought makes it if the facilities we provide for perfect dyeing and cleaning of all manner of fabrics are utilized; and the cost is modest in the extreme.

SEDALIA STEAM DYE WORKS.
J. S. BOSSERMAN, Prop.
219 South Lamine Street.
Phone Bell 314; Q. C. 316

will be accepted by the lines in question.

As it is included in and made a part of the official classification, which has been filed with the commission, it obtains a legal status from which the carriers cannot deviate, except in a few non-essential points.

The essentials are herewith described for the information of those directly interested:

First—It must contain the precise language of the new contract and conditions and must conform to the requirements with respect to color distinction for order shipments and straight consignments.

Second—In the straight bill of lading the original shipping order and memorandum are to be printed on white paper with black ink.

Third—On the order bill of lading, the original must be printed on yellow paper with black ink, shipping order and memorandum on blue paper with black ink. Both forms of bills of lading must be identical with the bill of lading prepared by the carriers, as to appearance, size and character of type, and the arrangement of printed matter.

Fourth—The width shall be 8 1/2 inches. The length shall be not less than 11 inches.

All bills of lading, as well as the shipping order, must be signed by the shippers. Temporary receipts or day tickets will not be accepted by the carriers, neither will they be permitted to accept other forms of bills of lading, day tickets or temporary receipts now in use, even though these have the stamped or written notation that the shipment is subject to the conditions of the new uniform bill of lading.

Protests are being made against the new bill, chiefly because it is provided that a carrier will not be liable if a claim for loss or damage is not filed within four months. It is asserted that this conflicts with national and state laws which allow several years to elapse before a claim is outlawed or barred. Western roads, it is said, have for this reason delayed adopting the new bill, and are still undecided on the question.

The interstate commerce commission says of the new uniform bill of lading:

"Its adoption we are persuaded, will be a long step toward uniformity, simplicity and certainty. It will likewise be a long step in the direction of fair dealing between shipper and carrier, and it may be confidently expected to remove much of the confusion which now exists, and to measurably avoid in the future the irregularities and injustice which have heretofore occurred."

The Central Freight association and the Trunk Line association have made the following statement to the public:

"The division into two forms, one of which is white and the other in colors yellow and blue, was adopted to meet the unanimous belief that the 'order' bill of lading should be of distinctive character in order, so as possible to prevent fraudulent changes being made after the bill of lading is issued, and it was urged by both the shipping public and the bankers as a necessary safeguard to their commercial transactions, it being recognized that a 'straight' bill of lading without any distinctive features could be fraudulently manipulated."

"It is the belief of this bill of lading, the result of three years of arduous negotiation between the shipping interests and the carriers with the benefit of advice from learned counsel and the banking interests of the country, who are vitally interested in the negotiability of the bill of lading, has resulted in a document which, as to its form, is so nearly perfect as to commend itself to every shipper."

BUCKET SHOP "LEAK" FOUND

Five Western Union Employees in Cincinnati Suspended.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 31.—As a result of charges against the Western Union by the Chicago board of trade that market quotations have been permitted to leak "to bucket shops," five trusted employees of the Cincinnati Western Union office were absent from their accustomed desks, having been suspended pending investigation.

The chief operator, chief lineman, chief clerk to superintendent's office, head of the ticker department and head switchboard operator were dropped.

This whole matter is understood to be at present a matter of inquiry by the federal grand jury, several of the operators formerly employed by the now defunct brokerage houses having appeared before that body.

Dr. J. T. Taylor and Family From Cooper County.

The Eagle regrets to learn that Dr. J. T. Taylor and family will soon move to Pettis county, says the Eunoion Eagle. Dr. Taylor recently bought a 60-acre farm adjoining the city limits of Sedalia, and expects to move to the place in a short time.

Dr. Taylor's health is much better than when he quit the active practice of medicine and moved from Speed to his farm, near Hopewell church. He does not want to again engage in regular practice, but will maintain an office in Sedalia and make a specialty of the treatment of certain diseases.

Dr. and Mrs. Taylor are excellent young people and their many Cooper county friends will regret very much to see them leave the county.
